The farmers cheered until they were hourse when Mr. Mills concluded.

Despite the clerical condemnation the boycott is still employed largely as a political weapon, and the system is specially strong in the west of Ireland.

> The case of a man named Ryan, living near Limerick, is being cited as a proof of the thoroughness with which the plan is carried out. Evan has been striving since 1887 to live out. Ryan has been striving since 1887 to live on an evicted farm. The results have been singular. For speeches denouncing Ryan two members of parliament, Finucane and Sheehv. the Rev. Father Marinan and others were sentenced to imprisonment. The congregation left the gallery in the chapel as soon as Ryan entered it. A grocer in Limerick sent a messenger after him and returned him money paid or goods ordered as soon as he knew to whom the articles had been sold. Ryan was shadowed at Fairs until the police began shadowing the shadowers, and he could not get his horses shod. A firm that had always repaired his mowing machine refused to do so any longer, and he has been subjected, he declares, to "all the annoyance and inconvenience that human ingenuity can devise." But he still holds on. A demonstration of miners in the Derbyshire district was held today, at which 15,000 men were present. Resolutions favoring the eight-hour day were adopted. The authorities here state that Adolph Phillipsen, the real murderer, is still in custody in this city.

OHIO DEMOCRATS. Gov. Campbell Will Not be Present at the State Convention.

SPRINGFIELD, Onto, August 96 .- Arrangements for the democratic state convention, though that gentleman would be named for secretary of state. The drift of opinion seems to set toward Judge Blandin of Cleveland for the supreme judgeship, and Capt. Leopold Keifer of Miami county looks like the coming man for board of public works, although Springfield will present a candidate for the place in the person of W. C. Armstrong who it is said is hotly championed by Col. John Kinnane and Dave Ballentine of this place. Governor Campbell was expected to be present but he is not well, and upon the advice of his physician he will remain in Columbus.

Secretary of state. The drift of opinion seems doubt in his mind as to whether the decision with regard to the copyright bill was a correct one. It was in accordance with the decision made in the Forth-eighth Congress that whenever a committee had a day and its work was not done its special power ceased. The attention of the chair had not been called to the decision cited by the gentleman from Missouri. It may be said that the language of that ruling excepted a case like this, where the next day has actually been given to a committee, and it is proper that this doubt expressed by the chair. The chair, therefore, thinks that the question now before

Stepped on a Girl's Foot. CHARLOTTE, N. C., August 26.-The quietude the town of Statesville was somewhat marred by the report of pistol shots last night. It seems that the colored population had gathered to a grand festival and a man by the name of John Jones was very much insulted by Jim Murchison stepping on his girl's foot without rendering an apology. Jones, on the spur of the moment and backed up by a goodly number of drinks, pulled out two pistols and fired promise nously in the crowd. His first shot truck Murchison in the side, and, not content with that, he fired again. This time the bullet took effect in Murchison's forehead, killing him nstantly. Jones has taken to the woods. THE DEAD REPRESENTATIVE Services Will be Held This Evening and the Remains Taken to Pennsylvania. The flag on the Shoreham Hotel, down to half-mast, flapped funereally in the humid atmosphere today. The body of Representative Watson, whose sudden death as he was about to leave the hotel yesterday morning was announced in THE STAR, lies in one of the rooms in suite A, and there he was looked upon today by a number of those who knew him during his lifetime. In the parlor of the suite the services will be held this evening. THE ARID LANDS. The Effect of the Conference Agreement on the Sundry Civil Bill.

The effect of the legislation in regard to the arid lands as agreed upon by the conference committees of the two houses was discussed with a great deal of interest today by the General Land Office officials. The arid land law of 1888, which has been repealed by this new legislation, has been a great check to the business of the General Land Offic and final action on entries in practically all the region west of the one hundredth meridian has been suspended. All these cases would now pass to patent. One of the officials remarked today that the provision limiting to 320 acres the amount of land that can be patented to one individual practically abolished the desert land act and one or two other of the land laws. Under the desert land act a man could make an entry of 640 acres; he could also make a pre-emption, a homestead and a timber culture entry. The last three laws limited each entry to 160 acres. It is considered that the proposed law, while not perfect, is much pre-ferable to the law of 1888 and that the provision exempting from settlement reservoir sites and providing for the right of way through private land for irrigating canals is ample to carry out the proposed scheme of irrigation of the desert lands. This is the view held by an experienced official of the General Land Office, who is widely acquainted with the public lands and the administration of public land
